FIRST BULLION BARS ARE CAST AT NEW MILL

WONDER MILL WORKING SPLENDIDLY AND PRODUCTION WILL STEADILY INCREASE.

The mill of the Nevada Wonder is steadily hammering away on ore, and seems capable of easily handling more rather than less ore than its estimated capacity of 100 tons daily. Thus far, while the tuning up process has been proceeding, getting the various machines to work in harmony, it has not been found necessary to use the Chilean mill to assist in the crushing. The uncommonly heavy stamps, dropping nearly a hundred times a minute, have crushed all the ore needed to keep things going and delivered their product through a 12-mesh screen ready for the tube mill, whereas when they get to crushing the battery will discharge through quarter-inch openings and the Chilean mill will reduce the chunks thus made to the proper grade for tube mill consumption.

Some trouble has been experienced with one of the pumps, says the Wonder News, on account of the valve wearing out and requiring constant repairing, but this has been overcome by substituting a rubber ball for the steel one, and now the pump is discharging like a fire engine.

The first bullion bars to be run in the district were made yesterday, and the size of the cleanup is most satisfactory. It is too early to get the return in dollars and cents.

The large amount of solutions necessary to supply the mill, all of which carry gold and silver, which had to be supplied from the ore, has reduced the cleanup somewhat, but now that the solutions are all impregnated, in future the amount, estimated at something between $20,000 and $30,000, will be recovered regularly.

This metal in the solutions will remain in the mill until the final shutdown, either when the mine is worked out or the mill is worn out, when it will all be recovered. From all indications it will be many years before this happens, for the mine is just beginning to be developed, and those acquainted with the property all agree that it is one of the biggest mining propositions in America.

WONDER SOON TO HAVE A DOCTOR

INCREASED POPULATION MAKES IT IMPERATIVE THAT A PHYSICIAN IS NEEDED.

Wonder hasn't needed a doctor for several years. During boom days we had four or five, and by charging like the devil for their services they managed to keep up with the procession. When people began deserting the camp the medicine men followed until but one remained. There were but a handful of people left, and they were so shamefully healthy that the one faithful purveyor of bad tasting mixtures had to give up the struggle and go to a place where the air is not so pure and the water not so wholesome. For more than a year we have been doctorless, and didn't mind it a speck. With the increased population consequent upon the resumption of mining operations the necessity for some one to take our temperature and look at our tongues became apparent.

The recent series of minor accidents made it more so, and the matter of capturing a live saw-bone became a live topic for discussion. It was finally taken up by the heads of the mining companies operating here, and an effort will be made to induce a physician to come in and hang up his shingle.

With about a hundred men working in and about the mines and mill, and more being added, it will be miraculous if some one is not dangerously hurt now and then, and with the telephone line not working, as sometimes happens, and the automobiles out of commission, we might have to stand idly by and see a man die for want of proper attention.—Wonder News.

"DUSTY MARY" IS AT PRESENT BEING REPAIRED

A couple of weeks ago Al Marshall towed into town a dilapidated looking bulk of an automobile from Schurz. Upon investigation this junk pile of machinery was found to be what was left of old "Dusty Mary," a big Thomas that was one of the special desert machines built to run from Sodaville to Tonopah in the early days of those camps, before the railroad reached them, later on between Tonopah and Goldfield, and still later on between Schurz and Rawhide. The machine was a big, powerful one, and in her prime negotiated the desert hills and sandy plains as no other machine could, except her mate. It is said that she has traveled over 25,000 miles on the desert highway. She met with a number of accidents, as all machines do, but it was not until she tried to jump a washout about 20 feet deep that she received injuries that put her out of commission. This accident did not injure any of the passengers she was carrying, but it broke the frame of the machine, and it has been out of service since. Mr. Marshall purchased the wreck for a song and he now has the old girl almost ready to go on the road again. Her engines are the largest of any machine in the state and they are as fine today as when they were first put in the car. When fully repaired the machine will probably be put on a run between Wabuska and Yerington.—Yerington Times.
